Beyond the Electoral Roll

The importance of the SIR does not end with who is listed on the electoral roll and who is able to vote. A voter identity card, and more generally a person's position within the electoral system, has acquired importance in everyday dealings with the state beyond the polling place.

The situation in West Bengal has made this particularly apparent. Deleted or affected electors have faced problems with procedures not directly connected with voting, including renewing passports, obtaining domicile or residence certificates, accessing the Public Distribution System and other welfare schemes. Questions about electoral roll status have also interfered with students' ability to secure domicile, and consequently their eligibility for educational opportunities, including hard-earned MBBS seats.

Removal from the electoral roll does not in itself cancel a person's citizenship or legal right to public services. However, administrative systems do not always function separately. Electoral documents may be used as proof of identity, residence or domicile; deletion may therefore place additional burdens on those concerned.

These burdens may not fall equally. Requirements relatively easy for permanently settled, properly documented and economically secure households can be much harder for migrant workers, students, elderly persons, persons with disabilities and households with limited access to documents and public institutions.

It is precisely this possibility that leads Sabar Institute to analyse SIR data. Our aim goes beyond counting deletions; it is to detect patterns of disproportionate impact by constituency, polling station, gender, recorded reason, geography and other relevant characteristics.

Disparity alone does not prove discrimination or administrative misconduct. Instead, disproportionate outcomes signal where further investigation, safeguards or corrective measures may be necessary.

We are committed to downloading, open-sourcing and analysing SIR deletions across India. But the scale of this task is far greater than the capacity of our small, independent and wholly crowdfunded team.

We have the commitment. We have demonstrated that the work can be done. What we need are the resources to take it to the scale it deserves.

Help us take this work across India.

Note & observations

Surname = last token of the elector name, upper-cased.

Meghalaya is largely matrilineal (Khasi, Jaintia, Garo), so the trailing token is the clan / kur name rather than a paternal family name.

- High concentration: top-10 = 38.3% of electors.
- Khasi/Jaintia clans (DKHAR, LYNGDOH, RYMBAI, SHYLLA, SUCHIANG) lead the eastern hills; Garo clans (MARAK, SANGMA, MOMIN) the west.

ST-reserved vs. Unreserved Seats

Fifty-five of Meghalaya's sixty seats are reserved for Scheduled Tribes. The five unreserved seats are Pynthorumkhrach, West Shillong and South Shillong (East Khasi Hills), and Phulbari and Rajabala (West Garo Hills).

DRAFT ELECTORS 2,169,243 SIR draft roll	TOTAL DELETIONS 180,402 8.32% deletion rate	DEATH 45.2% 81,490	UNTRACEABLE / ABSENT 27.5% 49,679	PERMANENTLY SHIFTED 23.6% 42,532	FEMALE SHARE 41.4% 74,699 women
--	--	---------------------------------	--	---	--

Deletion rate is deletions ÷ draft electors; every other bar is that measure's share of the category's own deletions, so the four reasons in one category sum to 100%. Read the first pair on its own — it has a different base.

Rajabala	West Garo Hills	37,092	1,686	4.5%	53.7%	54.9%	36.7%	2.4%	6.0%

The high unreserved rate is a Shillong-city phenomenon, not a general one. The three city seats run at 23–29%, driven by "Untraceable / Absent" (54–60% of their deletions). The two Garo Hills unreserved seats — Phulbari and Rajabala — sit at 5.8% and 4.6%, below the 8.32% state rate, and are the two lowest deletion rates in Meghalaya.

District-wise Deletions

All twelve districts, ordered by deletion rate. Under each reason count is that reason's share of the district's own deletions. Draft electors and deletions are as published in the CEO status report of 14 August 2026.

East Khasi Hills alone accounts for 69,986 deletions — 38.8% of the state total from 25.9% of its electors — and is the only district above 10%. Its "Untraceable / Absent" count (29,981) is 60.3% of every such deletion in Meghalaya. At the other end, Eastern West Khasi Hills removes 2.86% of its roll.

Population & Demography

Census 2011 for the seven undivided districts, placed next to the SIR draft electors and deletions. The twelve present-day districts have been folded back into their seven Census parents. Meghalaya is 86.1% Scheduled Tribe; Bengali speakers are 6.4%, concentrated in the two districts along the plains border.

West Garo Hills is by a wide margin the most Bengali-speaking district (19.8%) yet deletes only 7.15% of its roll, below the state figure. East Khasi Hills, at 6.4% Bengali but the most urban, deletes 12.45%. The deletion rate tracks urbanity far more closely than it tracks language.

DEFINITIONS

Total population is the sum of the C-16 broad-language parent rows for each district. ST is ST-appendix code 500 (All Scheduled Tribes), Persons. Non-ST is Total minus ST. Bengali counts only C-16 mother tongue 002007 Bengali; it excludes Hajong, Chakma and Rajbangsi, which the Census groups under broad-language Bengali. Files were joined on Census district codes 293–299. The district sums reconcile exactly to the state totals: 29,66,889 population, 25,55,861 ST and 1,90,882 Bengali speakers. Census district boundaries are 2011 vintage and do not align to assembly boundaries, so these joins are district-level only.

Deletion Patterns vs. Demography

Do districts with a larger ST, non-ST or Bengali-speaking share show a different deletion pattern? Each deletion measure is correlated against the three population shares across the seven Census districts. Reason figures are rates — reason deletions ÷ draft electors — so they sum to the overall deletion rate.

DELETION METRIC	r vs ST %	r vs Non-ST %	r vs Bengali %
Deletion rate	-0.47	+0.47	+0.13
Female share	-0.90	+0.90	+0.74
Death rate	-0.71	+0.71	+0.46
Perm. shifted rate	-0.07	+0.07	+0.03
Untraceable rate	-0.39	+0.39	+0.00
Already-enrolled rate	+0.28	-0.28	-0.20

positive negative a deeper colour means a larger |r|

WHAT THE NUMBERS SAY

The female share of deletions rises with the non-tribal population

The clearest pattern in the data. Women are a larger share of those removed in the more mixed districts ($r = +0.90$ against non-ST %, $+0.74$ against Bengali %). West Garo Hills — the most non-ST and most Bengali district — has the highest female share at 43.6%; tribal-heavy West Khasi and South Garo are lowest, near 38%.

Deaths drive most of the population-wise pattern

The death-reason deletion rate rises with the non-ST share ($r = +0.71$). East Khasi Hills has the highest death rate at 4.86% of electors, consistent with an older, more urban non-tribal population.

The overall deletion rate is only weakly linked to the Bengali share

Against Bengali %, the overall deletion rate is close to flat ($r = +0.13$). The most Bengali district, West Garo Hills at 19.8%, sits at an ordinary 7.15% deletion rate, and its unreserved seats Phulbari and Rajabala recorded the lowest rates in the state. Nothing here indicates that Bengali-heavy districts face higher removal rates overall.

"Untraceable / Absent" is an urban signature, not a linguistic one

The untraceable rate has no relationship with Bengali % ($r = +0.00$) but a positive one with non-ST % ($+0.39$), because it climbs only in urban Shillong (East Khasi Hills, 5.33%). That is the same mechanism behind the high unreserved-seat rate — urban churn, not any single community.

Shifted and already-enrolled deletions show no demographic pattern

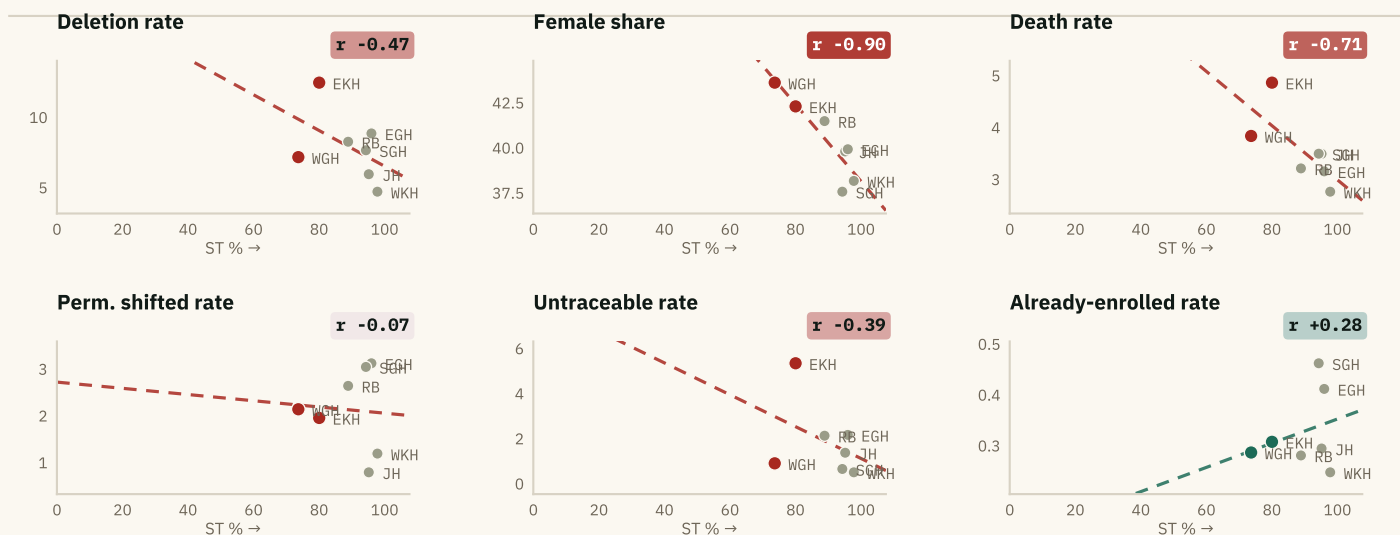

The permanently-shifted rate ($r = +0.07$ / $+0.03$) and the already-enrolled rate (-0.28 / -0.20) are both flat against the two population measures.

Read with care. This is a district-level association across only seven Census districts, untested for significance, and it says nothing about individual electors. ST % and non-ST % are exact complements, so their columns are mirror images — every r has the same magnitude with the opposite sign. Both are also tightly bound to Bengali % ($|r| = 0.89$), so the three columns largely restate one another and their effects cannot be separated. "Female share" is women as a share of a district's deletions; a true rate per woman elector is not computable without female elector counts.

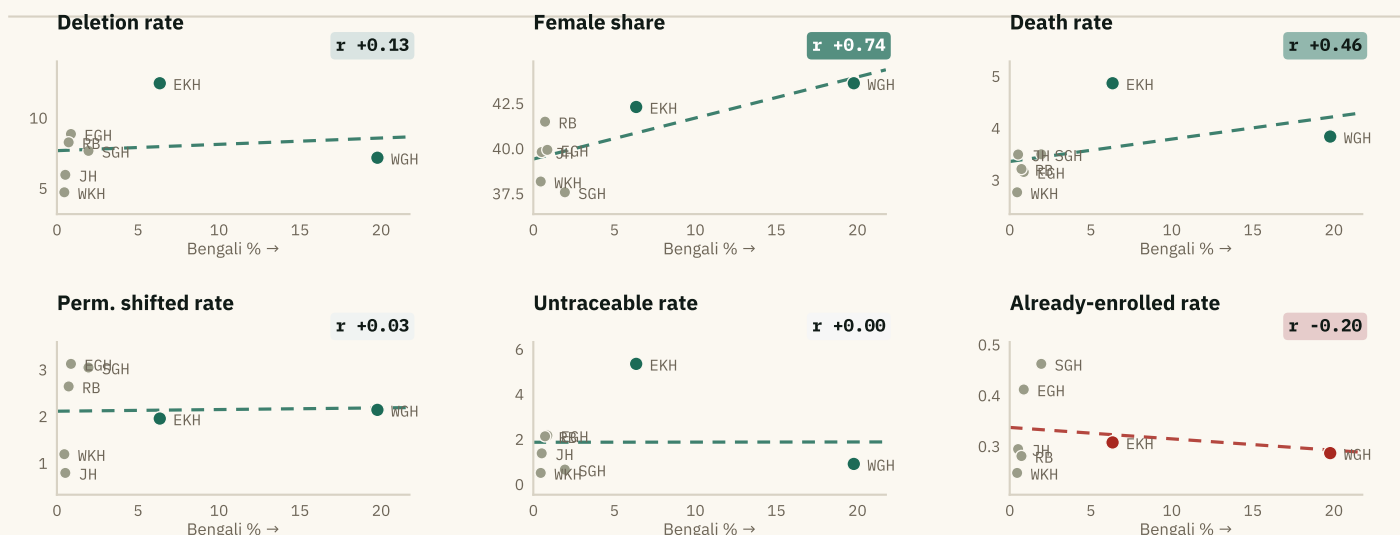

Demography Scatterplots

One dot per Census district. Moving right means a larger share of that population group; moving up means more of that deletion measure. The dashed line is the least-squares trend. EKH (East Khasi Hills) and WGH (West Garo Hills) are highlighted as the two districts that anchor most of the spread.

AGAINST ST POPULATION %

AGAINST BENGALI-SPEAKING %

Non-ST % is omitted because it is the exact complement of ST % — every panel would be the mirror image of the top grid, with each r keeping its magnitude and flipping its sign. The correlation matrix on the previous page reports all three columns.

With only seven points, a single district can move a coefficient a long way: removing East Khasi Hills or West Garo Hills changes most of these lines materially. Treat the slopes as directional hints for where to look next — the seat-level chapters in Part II, and the constituency rankings earlier in this part, are the evidence that carries weight.

Key Insights

Meghalaya's SIR shows substantial electoral-roll exclusions across the state, with clear demographic and regional variation.

◆ Total ASDD electors	180,402 across 60 constituencies
◆ Gender	58.6% male; 41.4% female
◆ Death	45.2% — largest exclusion reason
◆ Untraceable / Absent	27.5%
◆ Permanently Shifted	23.6%
◆ Already Enrolled	3.7%
◆ Largest age group affected	30–44 years (34.0%)
◆ Regional totals	Khasi 83,964 · Garo 62,573 Jaintia 18,196 · Ri-Bhoi 15,669

Overall, the data highlights significant constituency-level differences that merit closer examination.
